"_____

I am backing IQ121, Inc. because it is addressing one of the most overlooked yet inevitable challenges of modern society: how individuals and families securely manage critical life, digital, and legacy information in an increasingly complex world. IQ121 is not just an app—it is a trust infrastructure designed around lifecycle awareness, security, and dignity. What convinced me most is the team's deep understanding of regulation, data protection, and cultural sensitivity across global markets, combined with a clear, scalable commercial vision. The platform's approach to privacy, emergency access, and future-proof digital legacy management creates a meaningful moat that is difficult to replicate. With strong leadership, a compelling mission, and growing real-world traction, I believe IQ121 has the potential to become a global standard in end-of-life and legacy technology, while generating sustainable long-term value for investors."
