RISK FACTORS

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky: ?

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. Investors should not invest any funds unless they can afford to lose the entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

At present, the Company has limited working capital for the Picture and relies heavily on outside investment to move forward with its operations as intended.

Independent films without recognizable star actors often encounter significant hurdles in achieving market visibility and sales.

The process of developing, financing, producing, and distributing a film involves considerable risk, and the film industry is intensely competitive. Success depends largely on audience preferences, which are unpredictable and constantly shifting. As such, the commercial prospects of the Picture cannot be guaranteed. Many films fail to recover their production and distribution expenses and may never achieve profitability. Investors should understand there is no guarantee of receiving back any or all of their investment, nor any return beyond it.

There is no guarantee the Picture will produce revenue. No promises, warranties, or assurances are made that the project will generate sufficient income to return capital or profit to Investors. Investors must recognize the high likelihood of loss, seek independent legal advice before committing, and rely solely on their own advisors or internal expertise when evaluating this opportunity.

The film and entertainment sector is extremely competitive, and this investment is therefore considered high risk. Competition affects all stages of production and distribution, from securing and paying talent to releasing the Picture into a crowded marketplace competing with countless other films and entertainment options. These factors may negatively affect the outcome of the investment. Additionally, many companies in this industry face ongoing financial challenges, reflecting both its competitive nature and the unpredictability of audience reception.

Investing in the Picture carries a substantial level of risk and should only be undertaken by individuals who can withstand the possibility of losing their entire investment

The Company's future success relies heavily on the contributions of a small management team. Losing one or more of these key individuals could negatively affect operations. Furthermore, there is no guarantee the Company will be able to attract or retain the additional personnel necessary to support future growth.

The securities offered are highly illiquid, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment indefinitely. There is no public market for these securities, and none is expected to develop. The securities have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 or state securities laws, and they may not be resold unless they are registered or an exemption from registration is available. Federal securities laws impose a minimum one-year holding period before any resale can occur, and even after that period, resale opportunities will be extremely limited. Given our early stage, lack of profitability, and uncertain prospects, it is unlikely that any liquidity event such as an acquisition or public offering will occur. Investors must be prepared to bear the financial risks of this investment for an indefinite period and should not invest funds that they may need to access in the foreseeable future.

IMMANENT was incorporated in April 2024 and has an extremely limited operating history upon which investors can evaluate our business, financial performance, and prospects. Our limited track record makes it difficult to predict our future performance or assess whether our business model will prove viable. There is a substantial risk that we will be unable to successfully implement our business plan or achieve our operational objectives.

Our company currently employs only three individuals, and our success depends heavily on the continued services and performance of this small team. The loss of any key personnel could have a severe adverse effect on our ability to develop our platform, execute our business plan, and achieve our objectives. With such limited human resources, we lack redundancy in critical roles and may face significant operational disruptions if any team member becomes unavailable. We do not maintain key person life insurance on any of our personnel.

The company has very limited cash reserves and has not demonstrated any path to profitability. We expect to continue incurring losses for the foreseeable future as we attempt to develop our platform, acquire users, and establish market presence. The costs associated with technology development, infrastructure, user acquisition, and operations in the professional networking space are substantial. We have not generated meaningful revenue to date, and there is no assurance that we will ever achieve profitability or positive cash flow. Our limited financial resources severely constrain our ability to invest in product development, marketing, and the operational infrastructure necessary to compete effectively. If we are unable to generate sufficient revenue or obtain additional financing, we may be forced to significantly curtail or cease operations entirely.

The film industry is highly competitive, with thousands of films produced each year competing for limited distribution opportunities, festival slots, and audience attention. Immanent LLC will be competing against films produced by established production companies with greater resources, industry relationships, and track records of success. Major streaming platforms, traditional broadcasters, and theatrical distributors have limited capacity for documentary content and are highly selective in their acquisition decisions. The proliferation of content across multiple platforms has made it increasingly difficult for individual films to break through and reach audiences. Additionally, audience tastes and market trends in documentary filmmaking are constantly evolving, and a film that seemed commercially viable during production may face reduced demand by the time it is completed and ready for distribution. The company's ability to compete effectively will depend on the quality and uniqueness of the finished film, the strength of its subject matter, the effectiveness of its marketing, and factors outside its control such as timing and cultural relevance.

The company's success depends on securing distribution through third-party platforms, broadcasters, or distributors over which it has no control. The film distribution landscape has undergone significant disruption in recent years, with traditional distribution models being replaced or supplemented by streaming platforms, video-on-demand services, and direct-to-consumer channels. These platforms have their own content strategies, acquisition budgets, and programming priorities that can change rapidly. There is no guarantee that any platform will be interested in acquiring or licensing the film, or that the terms offered will be economically favorable. Additionally, distribution agreements typically grant significant control to the distributor over marketing, release timing, and revenue collection, limiting the company's ability to influence the film's commercial performance. Changes in platform policies, consolidation in the media industry, or shifts in content acquisition strategies could materially affect the company's ability to monetize the film. We are attempting to establish a professional networking platform in a market dominated by well-established competitors with massive user bases, substantial financial resources, and strong brand recognition. Our business model has not been tested or validated in the marketplace, and we have not demonstrated our ability to attract and retain users, generate revenue, or achieve network effects necessary for a successful social networking platform. Professional networking platforms typically require a critical mass of users to provide value, creating a significant barrier to entry. We may be unable to differentiate our offering sufficiently to convince users to adopt our platform instead of or in addition to established alternatives. Without a proven track record of user acquisition, engagement, or monetization, there is substantial risk that our business model will fail to gain traction in the market.

The Offering

USE OF FUNDS

9. What is the purpose of this offering?

The Company intends to use the net proceeds of this offering for working capital and general corporate purposes, which includes the specific items listed in Item 10 below. While the Company expects to use the net proceeds from the Offering in the manner described above, it cannot specify with certainty the particular uses of the net proceeds that it will receive from this Offering. Accordingly, the Company will have broad discretion in using these proceeds.

10. How does the issuer intend to use the proceeds of this offering?

If we raise: $50,000

Use of Proceeds: If only the minimum target amount is raised, the Company intends to allocate proceeds primarily to essential near-term activities as follows: approximately 25% to pre-production expenses (including development, scripting, and planning), approximately 57.1% to production costs, approximately 10% to talent and actor-related offers and agreements, and approximately 7.9% to the Wefunder platform fee. Management retains discretion to reallocate among these categories as circumstances may require, and no specific outcomes or results are guaranteed.

If we raise: $124,000

Use of Proceeds: At the higher funding level, expected use of proceeds is approximately 33% cast and crew, 29% pre-production expenses, 30.1% will go towards production and post production, and 7.9% Wefunder platform fee. If we hit the maximum, we can increase shooting days, add crew, have larger gear packages and be able to pay a higher profile talent.

DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?

If we reach our target offering amount prior to the deadline, we may conduct an initial closing of the offering early if we provide notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to the new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). Wefunder will notify investors if we conduct an initial closing. Thereafter, we may conduct additional closings from time to time at our and Wefunder's discretion until the deadline date.

The following describes the process to invest in the Company, including how the Company will complete an Investor's transaction and deliver securities to the investor.

Investor Commitment. The Investor will submit, through Wefunder Portal, a requested investment amount. When doing so, the Investor will also execute an investment contract with the Company ("Investment Agreement"), using the Investor's electronic signature.

Acceptance of the Investment. If the Investor Agreement is complete, the Investor's commitment will typically be recorded within a few minutes. The commitment will also be available on the Investor's "My Investments" screen on the wefunder.com website. After the offering closes, the contract will be counter-signed by the Company. The executed investment contract will then be sent to the investor via email, and is also available to download on the "My Investments" screen.

Investor Transfer of Funds. Upon receiving confirmation that an investment has been accepted, the Investor will be responsible for transferring funds from a source that is accepted by Wefunder Portal into an escrow account held with a third party bank on behalf of issuers offering securities through Wefunder Portal.

Progress of the Offering. The Investor will receive periodic email updates on the progress of the offering, including total amounts raised at any given time, and will be notified by email and through the "My Investments" screen when the target offering amount is met.

Closing: Original Deadline. Unless we meet the target offering amount early, Investor funds will be transferred from the escrow account to the Company on the deadline date identified in the Cover Page to this Form C and the Company's Wefunder Portal Profile.

Early Closings. If the target offering amount is met prior to the original deadline date, we may close the offering earlier, but no less than 21 days after the date on which information about the Company, including this Form C, is posted on our Wefunder Portal Profile. We will reschedule the offering deadline, and at least five days prior to the new deadline, investors will receive notice of it by email and through the "My Investments" screen. At the time of the new deadline, your funds will be transferred to the Company from email and through the "My Investments" screen. At the time of the new deadline, your funds will be transferred to the Company from the escrow account, provided that the target offering amount is still met after any cancellations.

Book Entry. Investments may be in book entry form. This means that the Investor may not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in our books and records and will be recorded in each Investors' "My Investments" screen. The Investor will also be emailed the Investment Agreement again. The Investment Agreement will also be available on the "My Investments" screen. At the option of the Company, you may receive an electronic certificate.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline.

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be canceled and the committed funds will be returned.

An Investor's right to cancel. An Investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the Investor about the offering and/or the Company, the Investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the Investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the Investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the Investor will receive, and refund the Investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

Because the Investor holds no voting rights in the company, the holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company could limit the Investor's rights in a material way. For example, those interest holders could vote to change the terms of the agreements governing the Company's operations or cause the Company to engage in additional offerings (including potentially a public offering). These decisions could affect gross revenues and diminish payments made to Investors.

Based on the risk that the company may never realize revenues or face a Default Event, the Investor may never see any returns. Additional risks related to the rights of other security holders are discussed below, in Question 20.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

No.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the unitholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the Investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the unitholders may change the terms of the operating agreement for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The unitholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns.

The unitholders have the right to redeem their securities at any time. Unitholders could decide to force the Company to redeem their securities at a time that is not favorable to the Investor and is damaging to the Company. Investors' exit may affect the value of the Company and/or its viability.

In cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional units, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The offering price for the securities offered pursuant to this Form C has been determined arbitrarily by the Company, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. In determining the offering price, the Company did not employ investment banking firms or other outside organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the securities offered hereby.

In the future, we will perform valuations of our common units that take into account factors such as the following:

- unrelated third party valuations of our common units;
- the price at which we sell other securities, such as convertible debt or preferred units, in light of the rights, preferences and privileges of our those securities relative to those of our common units;
- our results of operations, financial position and capital resources;
- current business conditions and projections;
- the lack of marketability of our common units;
- the hiring of key personnel and the experience of our management;
- the introduction of new products;
- the risk inherent in the development and expansion of our products;
- our stage of development and material risks related to our business;
- the likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company given the prevailing market conditions and the nature and history of our business;
- industry trends and competitive environment;
- trends in consumer spending, including consumer confidence;
- overall economic indicators, including gross domestic product, employment, inflation and interest rates; and
- the general economic outlook.

We will analyze factors such as those described above using a combination of financial and market-based methodologies to determine our business enterprise value. For example, we may use methodologies that assume that businesses operating in the same industry will share similar characteristics and that the Company's value will correlate to those characteristics, and/or methodologies that compare transactions in similar securities issued by us that were conducted in the market.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Management, and the investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Management of the Company.

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from unitholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for unitholders. Accordingly, the success of the investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company. If the Management of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its unitholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

None.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 24: name the creditor, amount owed, interest rate, maturity date, and any other material terms.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

| Offering date        | Exemption | Security type | Amount sold | Use of proceeds |
|----------------------|-----------|---------------|-------------|-----------------|
| No exempt offerings. |           |               |             |                 |

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest: ☺

- any director or officer of the issuer;
- any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
- if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer;
- or any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

Yes
 No

For each transaction specify the person, relationship to issuer, nature of interest in transaction, and amount of interest.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations. ?

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Overview of the Business and Financial Condition

IMMANENT is a early-stage company. As public interest in unexplained aerial phenomena reaches an all-time high, Immanent imagines what could exist just beyond the edge of official disclosure. This grounded science fiction thriller follows a government auditor whose investigation into a covert program forces him to confront secrets capable of changing humanity forever.

We are an early-stage company and are currently operating at approximately break-even, with no material positive or negative cash flows from operations in recent periods. There can be no assurance that this break-even performance will continue in future periods.

As of June 18, 2026, we did not have any cash or cash equivalents on hand.

Our ability to continue operations is dependent on managing our expenses and, if necessary, obtaining additional financing.

This discussion should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and related notes included in this offering statement.

Business and Operating Uncertainty

Our business operates in an environment subject to various risks, uncertainties, and changing conditions, which makes it difficult to evaluate our business, financial condition, and prospects and may limit the comparability of our results of operations from period to period.

Financial Condition

As of December 31, 2025, our total assets were $0 and our current and non-current liabilities, as reflected in available financial statement fields, were $0.

Our financial statements reflect an early-stage company with limited operating history. Investors should not place undue reliance on historical financial information given the company's limited operating history and the likelihood that future results will differ from historical results.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2025, we did not have any cash or cash equivalents on hand.

Based on our current operations, we are operating at approximately break-even, with monthly net cash flow of approximately $0.

Our monthly net cash burn or profit may vary significantly from month to month due to the timing of receipts and expenditures and other short-term factors. As a result, period-to-period comparisons may not be meaningful.

Based on our current plan, we expect to have sufficient cash to fund operations for at least the next 12 months.

To date, our operations have been funded through minimal cash resources and have not included any external financing.

Liquidity Assumptions

Our assessment of our liquidity and ability to fund operations is not a projection and is based on current assumptions regarding operating expenses, cash requirements, and capital needs. These assumptions may change, and actual results may differ materially due to changes in operating conditions, timing of receipts and payments, and other factors.

Dependence on Additional Financing

There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. If we are unable to raise additional capital when needed, we may be required to materially reduce or suspend operations.

Indebtedness and Capital Structure

As of the date of this offering statement, we did not have any outstanding indebtedness.

(For the avoidance of doubt, SAFEs are not treated as indebtedness.)

We have not conducted any exempt offerings or raised capital in the past three years.

Known Trends, Events, and Uncertainties

Management is aware of the following trends, events, or uncertainties that are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations over the next 12 months:

Higher costs (suppliers, wages, fees, etc.)

Dependence on successfully raising capital to proceed with production, as well as potential changes in production costs and timelines, which are typical for film projects.

These factors could increase operating costs, reduce liquidity, or require us to raise additional capital earlier than anticipated.

Other than the matters described above, management is not currently aware of any known trends, events, or uncertainties that are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations.

The absence of a discussion of any particular trend, event, or uncertainty should not be interpreted to mean that such matters do not exist; rather, it reflects management's judgment based on information currently available.

Changes Since the Date of the Financial Statements

There have been no material changes in our operations or financial condition since the date of the financial statements included in this offering.

Impact of This Offering

The proceeds from this offering are expected to be used to start pre-production for the film and make offers to actors. The timing and extent of our use of proceeds will depend on the amount of proceeds raised and future operating conditions. Additional detail regarding our planned use of proceeds is provided in Item 10 of this Form C.

There can be no assurance that the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to fund our operations or achieve our business objectives.

Certain information relevant to understanding our financial condition and liquidity is presented elsewhere in this offering statement, including in the financial statements, related notes, and the sections describing indebtedness and prior financings.

Forward-Looking Statements

This discussion contains forward-looking statements that are based on management's current expectations and assumptions. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by these statements.
