RISK FACTORS

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky: ?

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. Investors should not invest any funds unless they can afford to lose the entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

Regulatory & Compliance Risk

Alcohol is a highly regulated industry. Changes in federal, state, or local alcohol laws, tax structures, distribution rules, or advertising restrictions could impact operations, timelines, or revenue. Delays or issues related to licensing, TTB approvals, or state-by-state compliance could affect product rollout.

Working Capital & Funding Requirements

Expansion in the alcohol sector requires ongoing working capital for inventory, marketing, distribution, and staffing. Future financing may be required, and there is no guarantee such capital will be available on favorable terms or at all.

Consumer Demand & Market Adoption

Although early feedback is positive, consumer demand may fluctuate due to economic shifts, changes in taste preferences, or new market entrants. No assurance can be given that sales volume will meet projections.

Joseph White is a part-time officer. As such, it is likely that the company will not make the same progress as it would if that were not the case.

Our future success depends on the efforts of a small management team. The loss of services of the members of the management team may have an adverse effect on the company. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in attracting and retaining other personnel we require to successfully grow our business.

Cost of Goods (COGS) Volatility

The cost of raw materials (spirits, bottles, packaging, freight) may increase due to market conditions, supply chain disruptions, or vendor changes. Rising COGS could reduce margins or require price increases that may affect consumer demand.

Customer Acquisition Cost (CAC) Uncertainty

Marketing efficiencies may change over time. Increased digital advertising costs, changing social media algorithms, or influencer market demand may increase CAC. Higher CAC could impact growth pace and profitability.

Competition & Market Saturation

The spirits and RTD market is competitive and rapidly evolving, with major established brands and emerging celebrity-backed products. Competitors may have larger budgets and distribution networks. RILG's ability to differentiate and retain market share is critical.

Brand & Reputation Risk / PR Exposure

As a celebrity-associated brand, public perception is a major asset — and potential risk. Negative press, controversies, or brand-related public relations issues involving talent or partners could impact consumer and trade relationships.

Distribution & Retail Dependency

RILG must secure and maintain relationships with distributors, retailers, and venues. Performance is dependent on third-party partners' priorities, sales execution, and interest in promoting the brand. Termination or under-performance of distribution relationships could delay growth.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC was incorporated in April 2023 and has a very limited operating history upon which investors can evaluate our business, financial performance, and prospects. We are at an early stage of development in the highly competitive premium spirits industry. We have not yet demonstrated that we can successfully manufacture, distribute, market, and sell our products at scale or achieve market acceptance. Our business model remains unproven, and we face all the risks inherent in a new enterprise in a complex and regulated industry. The likelihood of our success must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the establishment of any business, the competitive environment in which we operate, and the stringent regulatory requirements applicable to alcoholic beverage companies. If we are unable to successfully address these challenges, our business will fail and investors will lose their entire investment.

Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC currently has zero employees. This means that all business operations, strategic decisions, product development, regulatory compliance, marketing, sales, distribution arrangements, and financial management are being handled by founders or contractors without a dedicated team. The absence of employees creates substantial risks regarding our ability to execute our business plan, scale operations, meet regulatory obligations, respond to market opportunities, and manage the day-to-day requirements of operating a spirits company. We will need to hire qualified personnel to grow our business, but there is no assurance that we will be successful in attracting, hiring, and retaining the talent necessary to operate effectively in the alcoholic beverage industry. Until we build an adequate team, our ability to develop and commercialize our products, establish distribution networks, and compete in the market will be severely limited.

Our business model is built around the celebrity brand and reputation of Ronald Isley. Our ability to market our products, attract customers, and differentiate ourselves in the crowded premium spirits market depends significantly on Mr. Isley's name recognition, reputation, and ongoing association with our brand. Any damage to Mr. Isley's public image, reputation, or brand value could materially harm our business. Additionally, if Mr. Isley becomes unable or unwilling to continue his involvement with the company due to health issues, personal reasons, contractual disputes, or other circumstances, our business could be severely impacted. We do not maintain key person life insurance on Mr. Isley or any other key individuals associated with the company. The loss of Mr. Isley's involvement or any negative publicity associated with him could make it difficult or impossible for us to successfully market our products and could result in a complete loss of investor capital.

We do not own manufacturing facilities and must rely on third-party distillers, bottlers, and co-packers to produce our spirits products. Our business depends on our ability to maintain relationships with qualified manufacturers who can produce products that meet our quality standards, regulatory requirements, and production timelines. We also depend on suppliers for bottles, labels, packaging materials, and other components necessary to bring our products to market. Any disruption in these supply relationships due to quality issues, capacity constraints, financial difficulties of suppliers, natural disasters, or other factors could delay or prevent us from fulfilling orders and generating revenue. Additionally, we must work within the three-tier distribution system required for alcoholic beverages, which means we are dependent on independent distributors and retailers to get our products to consumers. We have limited control over these third parties, and if they fail to perform adequately, prioritize competing products, or terminate their relationships with us, our ability to generate sales will be materially harmed.

Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC has very limited cash reserves and insufficient capital to fully execute our business plan. We will need to raise substantial additional funding beyond this offering to purchase inventory, expand distribution, conduct marketing campaigns, hire employees, maintain regulatory compliance, and cover ongoing operating expenses. There is no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. Our ability to obtain additional capital will depend on our business performance, market conditions, investor sentiment toward celebrity-branded spirits companies, and other factors beyond our control. If we are unable to raise additional funds when needed, we may be forced to delay, reduce, or eliminate our product development efforts, marketing initiatives, or expansion plans. In such circumstances, we may be unable to continue operations, and investors could lose their entire investment. Even if we do obtain additional financing, it will likely result in significant dilution to existing investors.

We have not generated significant revenue to date and have incurred losses since our inception. We expect to continue incurring losses as we invest in inventory, marketing, distribution expansion, and building brand awareness. The premium spirits industry requires substantial upfront investment in product development, inventory, marketing, and distribution before meaningful revenue can be generated. We cannot predict when, if ever, we will become profitable. Our ability to achieve profitability depends on numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control, including our ability to establish effective distribution channels, achieve market acceptance of our products, compete against established brands, maintain acceptable product margins, and manage operating expenses. If our products do not achieve sufficient market acceptance or if our costs exceed our projections, we may never achieve profitability, and investors will lose some or all of their investment.

The alcoholic beverage industry, and particularly the premium spirits segment, is intensely competitive and dominated by large, well-established companies with substantial financial resources, established distribution networks, strong brand recognition, and extensive marketing capabilities. We also face competition from numerous other celebrity-branded spirits that have entered the market in recent years, many backed by celebrities with larger fan bases or greater name recognition than Ronald Isley in certain demographics. Our competitors have significant advantages over us, including greater financial resources to invest in product development and marketing, established relationships with distributors and retailers, economies of scale in production and distribution, and proven track records of success. Many consumers have strong brand loyalty to existing spirits brands. We may not be able to compete effectively against these established competitors, and our failure to do so would prevent us from gaining market share and achieving profitability. Additionally, the market for celebrity-branded spirits has become saturated, which may make it more difficult for us to differentiate our products and capture consumer attention.

Our success depends on consumer acceptance of our premium spirits products and our ability to build brand loyalty. Consumer preferences in the alcoholic beverage industry are difficult to predict and subject to rapid change based on trends, marketing campaigns by competitors, health and wellness movements, and generational shifts in drinking habits. There is no assurance that consumers will be interested in purchasing spirits associated with Ronald Isley or that our products will appeal to our target demographic. Additionally, premium spirits are discretionary purchases that are particularly sensitive to economic conditions. During economic downturns, recessions, or periods of reduced consumer spending, demand for premium-priced alcoholic beverages typically declines as consumers trade down to less expensive alternatives or reduce alcohol consumption. Inflation, rising interest rates, unemployment, or other macroeconomic factors could reduce consumer willingness to purchase our products. If we are unable to generate sufficient consumer demand or if economic conditions deteriorate, our revenue will be adversely affected and we may be unable to achieve our business objectives.

The production, distribution, marketing, and sale of alcoholic beverages in the United States is heavily regulated by federal authorities, including the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau (TTB), as well as by alcoholic beverage control agencies in each state and many local jurisdictions. We must obtain and maintain numerous licenses and permits to operate our business, comply with the three-tier distribution system, adhere to strict labeling and advertising requirements, pay various taxes and fees, and meet age verification and responsible marketing standards. Regulations vary significantly from state to state, and expanding into new states requires obtaining additional licenses and ensuring compliance with each jurisdiction's specific requirements. The regulatory approval process can be lengthy, expensive, and unpredictable. Any failure to obtain required licenses, maintain compliance with applicable regulations, or renew expiring permits could result in fines, penalties, product recalls, loss of licenses, or criminal prosecution. Changes to alcoholic beverage laws, including restrictions on celebrity endorsements, limitations on direct-to-consumer sales, increased taxes, or new marketing restrictions, could make our business model less viable or impossible to execute. Given our limited resources and lack of dedicated compliance personnel, we face heightened risks of inadvertent regulatory violations that could have material adverse consequences for our business.

Our success depends in part on our ability to protect our brand name, trademarks, trade dress, product formulations, and other intellectual property. We rely on trademark protection for the Ronald Isley Liquid Gold name and associated branding, as well as trade secrets regarding our product recipes and business strategies. We may face challenges in registering or enforcing our trademarks, particularly if other parties claim prior rights to similar names or marks in the spirits industry. Additionally, we may face claims that our branding, product names, or marketing materials infringe on the intellectual property rights of others, which could result in costly litigation, require us to rebrand our products, or prevent us from using certain marketing approaches. We also depend on contractual agreements to protect our relationship with Ronald Isley and to define the terms under which his name and likeness can be used. Any disputes regarding these agreements, or any unauthorized use of our intellectual property by third parties, could harm our brand value and competitive position. Given our limited financial resources, we may be unable to adequately enforce our intellectual property rights or defend against infringement claims brought by others.

Our business is subject to risks arising from events beyond our control, including pandemics, epidemics, natural disasters, extreme weather events, geopolitical conflicts, terrorism, and other force majeure events. The COVID-19 pandemic demonstrated how such events can disrupt supply chains, close retail establishments, restrict social gatherings where alcoholic beverages are consumed, and reduce consumer spending on discretionary items. Future pandemics or public health crises could similarly impact our ability to source materials, manufacture products, distribute through normal channels, conduct marketing events, or generate sales. Natural disasters such as hurricanes, earthquakes, floods, or wildfires could damage the facilities of our manufacturing partners or distributors, disrupt transportation networks, or affect the regions where we sell our products. Geopolitical events could impact the availability or cost of imported ingredients or packaging materials. As an early-stage company with very limited cash reserves and no employees, we are particularly vulnerable to such disruptions and may lack the resources to adapt quickly or maintain operations during extended periods of business interruption.

An investment in Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC is highly speculative and involves a high degree of risk. You should invest only if you can afford to lose your entire investment. We are an early-stage company with a limited operating history, no employees, very limited cash reserves, and an unproven business model in a highly competitive industry. We may never generate significant revenue, achieve profitability, or provide any return to investors. The success of our business depends on numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control or difficult to predict. Given the substantial risks facing our company, there is a significant possibility that we will fail and that investors will lose all of the money they invest. You should not invest in these securities unless you can afford to lose your entire investment and understand that such a loss is a realistic possibility.

There is no public market for the securities being offered, and we do not expect one to develop in the foreseeable future. The securities have not been registered under the Securities Act of 1933 or any state securities laws, and they are subject to significant restrictions on transfer. Under Regulation Crowdfunding, you will be unable to sell or transfer your securities for one year after purchase except in very limited circumstances, such as to the company, to an accredited investor, as part of a registered offering, or to a family member or trust. Even after the one-year holding period, there may be no buyers for your securities, and you may be unable to sell them at any price. We have no plans to list the securities on any exchange or to facilitate a secondary market. Additionally, we have no current plans or timeline for a liquidity event such as an acquisition or initial public offering that would allow investors to realize a return on their investment. Investors should be prepared to hold these securities indefinitely and should not invest money that they may need to access in the future. The lack of liquidity may make it impossible for you to recover any portion of your investment, even if the company is performing well.

Investors in this offering will hold a minority ownership position in Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC and will have no ability to control or significantly influence company decisions. The company's management will have complete authority to make all decisions regarding business operations, strategy, financing, acquisitions, sale of the company, distributions, and other material matters. Management will be able to take actions with which you may disagree and that may not be in your best interests as a minority investor. You will have no ability to remove management, change the company's direction, or prevent decisions that could harm the value of your investment. Additionally, the company is not required to pay dividends or make distributions, and management may decide to reinvest all profits back into the business indefinitely. As a minority investor, you will be dependent entirely on management's decisions and execution ability, and you will have no recourse if you disagree with how the company is being operated.

The founder of Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC has designated themselves as the lead investor who will sign documents and make decisions on behalf of all investors in the special purpose vehicle (SPV). This arrangement creates a significant conflict of interest because the founder has interests both as the operator of the company and as the representative of the investors. Decisions that benefit the company or the founder personally may not align with what is best for investors. For example, the founder may have incentives to approve transactions, financing terms, or strategic decisions that favor the company's short-term needs or the founder's control over maximizing investor returns. The founder will also have access to material non-public information about the company's performance, challenges, and prospects that other investors do not have, creating an information asymmetry. Unlike typical investment structures where an independent third party represents investor interests, you will have no independent investor advocate looking out for your interests or negotiating on your behalf. This means that investor protections that might otherwise exist will be absent, and you will be entirely dependent on the founder to act in your best interests even when doing so may conflict with their interests as the company's operator. This conflict of interest increases the risk that investor interests will be subordinated to the founder's interests as the company operator.

This means that the investor will not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in the books and records of the SPV. In addition, investors' interests in the investments will be recorded in each investor's "Portfolio" page on the Wefunder platform. All references in this Form C to an Investor's investment in the Company (or similar phrases) should be interpreted to include investments in a SPV.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the Investor about the offering and/or the Company, the Investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the Investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the Investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the Investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the investor will receive, and refund the investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

The discount is only valid until the offering closes. Investors eligible for the bonus will also receive priority if they are on a waitlist to invest and the company exceeds its maximum funding goal. They will be given the first opportunity to invest if space in the offering becomes available due to the cancellation or failure of previous investments.

Securities Issued by the SPV

Instead of issuing its securities directly to investors, the Company has decided to issue its securities to the SPV, which will then issue interests in the SPV to investors. The SPV is formed concurrently with the filing of the Form C. Given this, the SPV does not have any financials to report. The SPV is managed by Wefunder Admin, LLC and is a co-issuer with the Company of the securities being offered in this offering. The Company's use of the SPV is intended to allow investors in the SPV to achieve the same economic exposure, voting power, and ability to assert State and Federal law rights, and receive the same disclosures, as if they had invested directly in the Company. While the Issuer may be required to pay an annual administrative fee for the maintenance of the SPV, investors should note the Company's use of the SPV will not result in any additional fees being charged to investors.

The SPV has been organized and will be operated for the sole purpose of directly acquiring, holding and disposing of the Company's securities, will not borrow money and will use all of the proceeds from the sale of its securities solely to purchase a single class of securities of the Company. As a result, an investor investing in the Company through the SPV will have the same relationship to the Company's securities, in terms of number, denomination, type and rights, as if the investor invested directly in the Company.

Voting Rights

If the securities offered by the Company and those offered by the SPV have voting rights, those voting rights may be exercised by the investor or his or her proxy. The applicable proxy is the Lead Investor, if the Proxy (described below) is in effect.

Proxy to the Lead Investor

The SPV securities have voting rights. With respect to those voting rights, the investor and his, her, or its transferees or assignees (collectively, the "Investor"), through a power of attorney granted by Investor in the Investor Agreement, has appointed or will appoint the Lead Investor as the Investor's true and lawful proxy and attorney (the "Proxy") with the power to act alone and with full power of substitution, on behalf of the Investor to: (i) vote all securities related to the Company purchased in an offering hosted by Wefunder Portal, and (ii) execute, in connection with such voting power, any instrument or document that the Lead Investor determines is necessary and appropriate in the exercise of his or her authority. Such Proxy will be irrevocable by the Investor unless and until a successor lead investor ("Replacement Lead Investor") takes the place of the Lead Investor. Upon notice that a Replacement Lead Investor has taken the place of the Lead Investor, the Investor will have five (5) calendar days to revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked within the 5-day time period, it shall remain in effect.

Restriction on Transferability

The SPV securities are subject to restrictions on transfer, as set forth in the Subscription Agreement and the Limited Liability Company Agreement of Wefunder SPV, LLC, and may not be transferred without the prior approval of the Company, on behalf of the SPV.

14. Do the securities offered have voting rights?

☐ Yes

15. Are there any limitations on any voting or other rights identified above?

See the above description of the Proxy to the Lead Investor.

16. How may the terms of the securities being offered be modified?

Any provision of this Safe may be amended, waived or modified by written consent of the Company and either:

the Investor or the majority-in-interest of all then-outstanding Safes with the same "Post-Money Valuation Cap" and "Discount Rate" as this Safe (and Safes lacking one or both of such terms will be considered to be the same with respect to such term(s)), provided that with respect to clause (ii):

the Purchase Amount may not be amended, waived or modified in this manner, the consent of the Investor and each holder of such Safes must be solicited (even if not obtained), and such amendment, waiver or modification treats all such holders in the same manner. "Majority-in-interest" refers to the holders of the applicable group of Safes whose Safes have a total Purchase Amount greater than 50% of the total Purchase Amount of all of such applicable group of Safes.

Pursuant to authorization in the Investor Agreement between each Investor and Wefunder Portal, Wefunder Portal is authorized to take the following actions with respect to the investment contract between the Company and an investor:

Wefunder Portal may amend the terms of an investment contract, provided that the amended terms are more favorable to the investor than the original terms; and Wefunder Portal may reduce the amount of an investor's investment if the reason for the reduction is that the Company's offering is oversubscribed.

Restrictions on Transfer of the Securities Being Offered:

The securities being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such securities during the one year period beginning when the securities were issued, unless such securities are transferred:

1. to the issuer;
2. to an accredited investor;
3. as part of an offering registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; or
4. to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

NOTE: The term "accredited investor" means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person.

The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Description of Issuer's Securities

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Authorized	Outstanding	Voting rights
Class of Security	Total Pool
Warrants	None
Options	None

Describe any other rights:

The Company has not yet authorized Preferred Units, which investors in the SAFE (if converted) will receive. Preferred Units have liquidation preference over Common Units.

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

The holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company could limit the Investor's rights in a material way. For example, those interest holders could vote to change the terms of the agreements governing the Company's operations or cause the Company to engage in additional offerings (including potentially a public offering).

These changes could result in further limitations on the voting rights the Investor will have as an owner of equity in the Company, for example by diluting those rights or limiting them to certain types of events or consents.

To the extent applicable, in cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional equity, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

Based on the risk that an Investor's rights could be limited, diluted or otherwise qualified, the Investor could lose all or part of his or her investment in the securities in this offering, and may never see positive returns.

Additional risks related to the rights of other security holders are discussed below, in Question 20.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

No.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the unitholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the Investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the unitholders may change the terms of the operating agreement for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The unitholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns.

The unitholders have the right to redeem their securities at any time. Unitholders could decide to force the Company to redeem their securities at a time that is not favorable to the Investor and is damaging to the Company. Investors' exit may affect the value of the Company and/or its viability.

In cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional units, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The offering price for the securities offered pursuant to this Form C has been determined arbitrarily by the Company, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. In determining the offering price, the Company did not employ investment banking firms or other outside organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the securities offered hereby.

The initial amount invested in a SAFE is determined by the investor, and we do not guarantee that the SAFE will be converted into any particular number of units. As discussed in Question 13, when we engage in an offering of equity interests involving Preferred Units, Investors may receive a number of Preferred Units calculated as either (i) the total value of the Investor's investment, divided by the price of the Preferred Unit being issued to new Investors, or (ii) if the valuation for the company is more than the Valuation Cap, the amount invested divided by the quotient of (a) the Valuation Cap divided by (b) the total amount of the Company's capitalization at that time.

Because there will likely be no public market for our securities prior to an initial public offering or similar liquidity event, the price of the Preferred Units that Investors will receive, and/or the total value of the Company's capitalization, will be determined by our management. Among the factors we may consider in determining the price of Preferred Units are prevailing market conditions, our financial information, market valuations of other companies that we believe to be comparable to us, estimates of our business potential, the present state of our development and other factors deemed relevant.

In the future, we will perform valuations of our units that take into account, as applicable, factors such as the following:

- unrelated third party valuations;
- the price at which we sell other securities in light of the relative rights, preferences and privileges of those securities;
- our results of operations, financial position and capital resources;
- current business conditions and projections;
- the marketability or lack thereof of the securities;
- the hiring of key personnel and the experience of our management;
- the introduction of new products;
- the risk inherent in the development and expansion of our products;
- our stage of development and material risks related to our business;
- the likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company given the prevailing market conditions and the nature and history of our business;
- industry trends and competitive environment;
- trends in consumer spending, including consumer confidence;
- overall economic indicators, including gross domestic product, employment, inflation and interest rates; and
- the general economic outlook.

We will analyze factors such as those described above using a combination of financial and market-based methodologies to determine our business enterprise value. For example, we may use methodologies that assume that businesses operating in the same industry will share similar characteristics and that the Company's value will correlate to those characteristics, and/or methodologies that compare transactions in similar securities issued by us that were conducted in the market.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An Investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the Investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Management, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Management of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from unitholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for unitholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company. If the Management of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its unitholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Overview of the Business and Financial Condition

Ronald Isley Liquid Gold LLC is engaged in development and commercialization of its alcohol brand. During 2025, management's primary focus shifted toward research and development, brand development, marketing, and preparation for broader market expansion rather than near-term sales generation.

We are an early-stage company and have incurred operating losses and negative cash flows from operations since inception. We expect to continue to incur operating losses in the near term.

As of September 15, 2026, we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $5,230.

Our ability to continue operations is dependent on managing our expenses and, if necessary, obtaining additional financing.

This discussion should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and related notes included in this offering statement.

Business and Operating Uncertainty

Our business operates in an environment subject to various risks, uncertainties, and changing conditions, which makes it difficult to evaluate our business, financial condition, and prospects and may limit the comparability of our results of operations from period to period.

Financial Condition

As of December 31, 2025, our total assets were $14,100.82 and our current and non-current liabilities, as reflected in available financial statement fields, were $299,025.

Our financial statements reflect an early-stage company with limited operating history. Investors should not place undue reliance on historical financial information given the company's limited operating history and the likelihood that future results will differ from historical results.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2025, we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $3,657.82.

Based on our current operations, we have a monthly net cash burn of approximately $4,200.

Our monthly net cash burn or profit may vary significantly from month to month due to the timing of receipts and expenditures and other short-term factors. As a result, period-to-period comparisons may not be meaningful.

Based on our current plan, we expect to have sufficient cash to fund operations for at least the next 12 months.

To date, our operations have been funded through loans and a $25k convertible note.

Liquidity Assumptions

Our assessment of our liquidity and ability to fund operations is not a projection and is based on current assumptions regarding operating expenses, cash requirements, and capital needs. These assumptions may change, and actual results may differ materially due to changes in operating conditions, timing of receipts and payments, and other factors.

Dependence on Additional Financing

There can be no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. If we are unable to raise additional capital when needed, we may be required to materially reduce or suspend operations.

Indebtedness and Capital Structure

As of the date of this offering statement, we had total outstanding indebtedness consisting of 1 convertible note and 2 loans and approximately $297,900.90 in aggregate principal obligations. The material terms of such indebtedness are described in Item 24 of this Form C.

(For the avoidance of doubt, SAFEs are not treated as indebtedness.)

During the past three years, we have conducted exempt offerings, resulting in the issuance of securities in aggregate amounts of approximately $25,000.

Known Trends, Events, and Uncertainties

Management is not currently aware of any known trends, events, or uncertainties that are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations over the next 12 months.

The absence of a discussion of any particular trend, event, or uncertainty should not be interpreted to mean that such matters do not exist; rather, it reflects management's judgment based on information currently available.

Changes Since the Date of the Financial Statements

There have been no material changes in our operations or financial condition since the date of the financial statements included in this offering.

Impact of This Offering

The proceeds from this offering are expected to be used to go toward buying inventory and some marketing. If we raise all the money, which we plan to, we would use the total amount to expand into more states and increase inventory and marketing. The timing and extent of our use of proceeds will depend on the amount of proceeds raised and future operating conditions. Additional detail regarding our planned use of proceeds is provided in Item 10 of this Form C.

There can be no assurance that the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to fund our operations or achieve our business objectives.

Certain information relevant to understanding our financial condition and liquidity is presented elsewhere in this offering statement, including in the financial statements, related notes, and the sections describing indebtedness and prior financings.

Forward-Looking Statements

This discussion contains forward-looking statements that are based on management's current expectations and assumptions. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied by these statements.

OTHER MATERIAL INFORMATION

31. In addition to the information expressly required to be included in this Form, include:

- (1) any other material information presented to investors; and
- (2) such further material information, if any, as may be necessary to make the required statements, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

The Lead Investor. As described above, each Investor that has entered into the Investor Agreement will grant a power of attorney to make voting decisions on behalf of that Investor to the Lead Investor (the "Proxy"). The Proxy is irrevocable unless and until a Successor Lead Investor takes the place of the Lead Investor, in which case, the Investor has a five (5) calendar day period to revoke the Proxy. Pursuant to the Proxy, the Lead Investor or his or her successor will make voting decisions and take any other actions in connection with the voting on Investors' behalf.

The Lead Investor is an individual that is chosen to act in the role of Lead Investor on behalf of Investors that have a Proxy in effect. The Lead Investor will be chosen by the Company and approved by Wefunder Inc. and the identity of the initial Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors before Investors make a final investment decision to purchase the securities related to the Company.

The Lead Investor can quit at any time or can be removed by Wefunder Inc. for cause or pursuant to a vote of investors as detailed in the Lead Investor Agreement. In the event the Lead Investor quits or is removed, the Company will choose a Successor Lead Investor who must be approved by Wefunder Inc. The identity of the Successor Lead Investor will be disclosed to Investors, and those that have a Proxy in effect can choose to either leave such Proxy in place or revoke such Proxy during a 5-day period beginning with notice of the replacement of the Lead Investor.

The Lead Investor will not receive any compensation for his or her services to the SPV. The Lead Investor may receive compensation if, in the future, Wefunder Advisors LLC forms a fund ("Fund") for accredited investors for the purpose of investing in a non-Regulation Crowdfunding offering of the Company. In such circumstances, the Lead Investor may act as a portfolio manager for that Fund (and as a supervised person of Wefunder Advisors) and may be compensated through that role.

Although the Lead Investor may act in multiple roles with respect to the Company's offerings and may potentially be compensated for some of its services, the Lead Investor's goal is to maximize the value of the Company and therefore maximize the value of securities issued by or related to the Company. As a result, the Lead Investor's interests should always be aligned with those of Investors. It is, however, possible that in some limited circumstances the Lead Investor's interests could diverge from the interests of Investors, as discussed in section 8 above.

Investors that wish to purchase securities related to the Company through Wefunder Portal must agree to give the Proxy described above to investors that wish to purchase securities related to the Company through Wefunder, certain must agree to give the Proxy described above to the Lead Investor, provided that if the Lead Investor is replaced, the Investor will have a 5-day period during which he or she may revoke the Proxy. If the Proxy is not revoked during this 5-day period, it will remain in effect.

Tax Filings. In order to complete necessary tax filings, the SPV is required to include information about each investor who holds an interest in the SPV, including each investor's taxpayer identification number ("TIN") (e.g., social security number or employer identification number). To the extent they have not already done so, each investor will be required to provide their TIN within the earlier of (i) two (2) years of making their investment or (ii) twenty (20) days prior to the date of any distribution from the SPV. If an investor does not provide their TIN within this time, the SPV reserves the right to withhold from any proceeds otherwise payable to the Investor an amount necessary for the SPV to satisfy its tax withholding obligations as well as the SPV's reasonable estimation of any penalties that may be charged by the IRS or other relevant authority as a result of the investor's failure to provide their TIN. If applicable, the Company may also be required to pay Wefunder certain fees for the preparation of tax filings. Such fees and the Company's obligation to deliver required tax documents are further specified in the related Tax Services Agreement ("TSA").

Investors should carefully review the terms of the SPV Subscription Agreement for additional information about tax filings.

Potential Dissolution of the SPV. The Company has agreed that it will pay an administrative fee and / or certain tax fees to Wefunder, in addition to delivering required tax information in the manner prescribed by the TSA, where applicable. Failure to pay such fees or provide Wefunder with required tax information could result in the dissolution of the SPV (an "SPV Dissolution Event"). Subsequent to an SPV Dissolution Event, the securities held by the SPV would be distributed directly and proportionally to the individual investors. This could create administrative complexities, as investors would need to manage the securities themselves rather than having them held and administered by the SPV. Additionally, the unplanned distribution of securities may not align with investors' intended investment strategy or asset allocation.

Upon an SPV Dissolution Event, the Investor hereby consents to and agrees to accept direct assignment of the SPV's rights and obligations under any investment agreements between the SPV and the Company that is located in the Form C or C/A offering materials. The Investor acknowledges they will be bound by all terms and conditions of such agreements as if they were an original party thereto.
