Reid Anderson

Senior Advisor for Banking Transformation, Delivery Assurance & Complex Change
Frankfurt, Hesse, Germany

Summary

I am a senior independent advisor and executive-level project leader with deep experience in banking, financial services, and complex transformation environments in Germany. Since 2001, I have worked across business, operations, technology, and change initiatives, supporting institutions and service providers in delivering critical programmes with clarity, control, and momentum.

My work is focused on helping organisations move complex initiatives forward where seniority, structure, and sound judgement are required. This includes leading sub-projects and workstreams, driving data migration streams, supporting programme governance, conducting delivery reviews and project audits, and acting as a senior soundboard to sponsors, programme leads, and management teams.

I am particularly effective in situations where projects need stronger delivery discipline, clearer stakeholder alignment, improved execution quality, or an experienced hand to stabilise and advance critical change.

I also work at the intersection of innovation, operational improvement, and practical transformation, with a focus on driving better organisational outcomes and improving the lives of people.

Typical engagement areas include:

- Programme and project leadership
- Leadership of project streams and critical delivery streams
- Data migration leadership and coordination
- Project audit, assurance, and health checks
- Governance, PMO improvement, and steering support
- Executive soundboarding for complex change situations
- Operational and transformation advisory in regulated environments

I bring a pragmatic, outcome-oriented style that combines strategic perspective with hands-on execution.
